

East Haddam Journal.

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 30.

The Gold Stories.

The earnest seeker after truth in regard to the prospects for mining in the so-called gold-fields of Nebraska and Kansas, meets with such contradictory statements as to render his investigation not only perplexing, but unsatisfactory. One day we find testimonials to the effect that gold abounds in rich profusion and that the industrious miner is sure of a rich reward for his labors—the next we are met with as positive declarations, and from apparently as reliable authority, that these promising stories are false and delusive. It is true that the "weight of testimony," as lawyers would say, is in the affirmative of the proposition. It might be more safe however, to modify the phrase and say that the greatest number of testimonials are upon that side, and leave to the facts set forth and sustained either by positive evidence or corroborating circumstances, to have their proper weight upon the public mind in determining its judgment. The western papers are full of letters written in the most glowing terms, and giving the most flattering accounts of the rich harvest that is already ripened in the auriferous region, and only waiting the coming of the masses to pour its golden treasures into their laps at the first touch of the sickle. That these should operate with magic power upon the excitable minds of a people ever hopeful—ever credulous—ambitious of gain, and untiring and unyielding in their efforts to obtain it, is not surprising. The wild enthusiasm which led the multitudes to California and which resulted in the immolation of tens of thousands upon the altar of the deity whom they worshipped, and whose wings were of burnished gold—the heedlessness of toil danger and suffering, with which, at a later period, thousands of these same men rushed with impatient speed to Fraser's River; and the present wild pursuit of the same great end, are but characteristics of the race whose energy and endurance have wrought out such miracles in the improvement of the western continent. Bend but the bow of promise before their vision and the imagination is fired with a restless spirit, and a firm determination seizes upon their minds to which all human obstacles must yield. Once bent upon their purposes and resolved upon their policy, and they surrender but with the last breath.

Is it not well, however, for all to be careful in the determination of this important question? Is it wise to rush impetuously into the hazards of a long and perilous march through an unsettled country—to sacrifice the comforts of home—the pleasures of the family circle and the advantages of a well regulated community for the uncertain condition of things at the mines? Is it necessary to rush at once to these golden regions—or would it not be a manifestation not only of discretion but of wisdom, to wait until something is definitely known in reference to the tales that have been told?

Perhaps some may say how shall we learn the truth if we do not make a personal investigation—so long as we wait, we must still depend upon the evidence of others.—This is true, but time, and a brief time will determine the question. If there is an abundance of gold but a few months more and the evidence of its existence will have become so full and complete as shall be satisfactory to even the most skeptical.—If gold does abound there in sufficient quantities to warrant a journey and search for it, there is no danger that it will be all dug out this year or next, and those who wait for the facts, though they may for a time be fed on "hope deferred," will if they should ultimately regard it to their interest to go, have the satisfaction of finding many comforts there which will not exist the present season. And if on the other hand, the bubble bursts, and the whole matter prove a delusion, they will have made no sacrifices either of health, comfort or money in solving the problem.

There is one point to which, in closing, we desire especially to call attention.—There are accounts of many persons having returned from the mines, and all, or most of these, tell flattering tales which tend still further to excite the public mind and increase the emigration. But none of these have brought back any considerable portion of the treasure which is said to abound—they do not bring with them the evidence that their words are true. Is not this fact sufficient of itself to at last create a suspicion that there is "something rotten in Denmark?" Nor has there, although there has been ample time therefore, yet been received from the Pike's Peak region any amount of gold worth mentioning.—These facts we state, and with them submit the question "to go or not to go," to all who are in any wise affected with the "fever."

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.—Rev. G. B. Wilcox was installed as pastor over the Second Congregational Church in New London, on Wednesday.

Rev. Frederick Denison of the Central Baptist Church, Norwich, announced to his congregation on Sunday evening, that he had tendered his resignation of the pastorate of that church, through the clerk of the society. No meeting has yet been called to take action upon it. Mr. Denison has been pastor of the church for the past five or six years, and has been faithful and earnest in the discharge of his pastoral duties. His place will be found difficult to be supplied by the church he has left.

The Right Rev. George W. Doane, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of New Jersey, died yesterday in Burlington, after a painful illness of several weeks. He was born in Trenton, May 17, 1775, and was of humble origin; was graduated at Union College in 1818; was ordained as deacon by Bishop Hobart in 1821 and priest in 1823; officiated in Trinity Church, New York, three years; in 1824 became professor of belles lettres in Washington College, Conn.; resigned that office in 1828, and became rector of Trinity Church, Boston, where he married a widow of large fortune. He became bishop of New Jersey, Oct. 31, 1832, and has since been engaged in various prominent educational establishments in that State. Besides sermons and other pamphlets, he has published poems, characterized by much taste and feeling, and has contributed to various periodicals of the Church, in which he was a minister. The convention of the diocese, which meets in May, will be required to choose his successor.

The Rev. James Wood, formerly professor in the New Albany Theological Seminary, has been elected President of Hanover College, Pa., and has accepted the appointment.

An English Missionary, Dr. Macgowan, long resident at Shanghai, China, has recently undertaken a mission to Nagasaki, Japan, taking with him tracts and copies of the Scriptures in Chinese for distribution, and Bibles in English and Dutch for the use of the native interpreters.

The religious interest in the Norwich churches continues. A daily prayer meeting is held at Dr. Bond's church, at 8 o'clock A. M.; at the Central Baptist Church a prayer and conference meeting at 2 o'clock each afternoon, and preaching every evening except Mondays and Fridays, when the young people occupy the house. The number of baptisms into this church since the first of March is 42.

VESSEL ASHORE ON FISHER'S ISLAND.—During the rough weather of Friday and Saturday two schooners—one loaded with corn and the other with coal—went ashore on the west end of Fisher's Island. On Saturday night a Mr. Lester who lives on the island, went to New London to procure assistance for them but so heavy a sea was running that no vessel has as yet been over to them. It was rumored Wednesday that the coal loaded vessel had gone to pieces.

The bark Laurens of New London sailed from New York on Monday last, bound on a whaling cruise to the South Atlantic ocean.

THE CURCISSIAN arrived at St. Johns, N. F., on Tuesday bringing five days later news from Europe, there is no apparent change in the situation of affairs, peace is regarded as hopeless.

Local Matters.

We would call special attention of those interested to the "School Notice" in our advertising columns. We have been requested to say that in future, notices of a like character will obtain publicity through the columns of the Journal.

The Washington Irving is to make an excursion trip to Hartford on Wednesday next—Lecture Day. See advertisement in another column.

The steamer L. Boardman commenced her trips for the season on Monday last. She has been thoroughly overhauled during the past winter and is as "good-looking" and pleasant a boat as the traveler could wish for. Capt. Bates and Purser Huntley still officer her, and that fact is significant of a pleasant time to all who go on board.

RENUNY HORSE.—As Mr. Samuel Martin of this place, was driving through our streets, on Thursday last, his horse became frightened and ran throwing Mr. M., and a little son of Hon. D. B. Warner, from the carriage, and injuring Mr. M. severely; the horse was stopped by running into a loaded team, but not till he had smashed the buggy.

Royce opened his saloon Thursday evening and dealt the beer and other good things out in a bountiful manner.

That beer is good, and we like good beer. Send us a pitcher-full once in a while, Royce.

We take this opportunity to inform our friends and the public generally that the principle part of our type is set on Friday for our paper, and consequently during that day we are always very much hurried and perplexed in our business, so that if there are any in our vicinity who are not perfectly familiar with the operation of type setting, we desire to extend to them all a cordial invitation to spend that entire day with us and examine closely all our movements as we are preparing our paper for press. And particularly if the weather be stormy and they are consequently prevented from attending to their own business, it will be a capital time to visit us and assist in managing ours.—They are particularly requested also to examine the proof sheets which we may have struck off and which may be lying on our tables, and if unfortunately, there may not be a sufficient amount to provide each with a piece, some one can read aloud to the rest, pointing out the mistakes we may have made in our first impressions, while others can huddle about the standards of our printers, asking them questions relative to the authorship of different articles, and thus manifest a friendly interest in our success and convenience. No one who has not had some experience in the hurry and vexation incident to the last day of a paper's preparation, can fully appreciate the great assistance which can be rendered by the presence and peculiarly pleasant influence of a crowded printing office. Last Friday we were considerably annoyed and chagrined by the great lack of interest manifested in our affairs by those who were out of employment in consequence of the rain. We believe we did not have but twenty-three visitors in our office at any one time, and we consider this pointed neglect to be quite singular, but perhaps those who did not come were suspicious that they might cause us some inconvenience. We can only say to them that we appreciate their motives, and we cannot but hope that their example, prompted as we believe by true delicacy of feeling, will become widely contagious.

LIGHT-VESSEL ADRIFF.—On Saturday evening the Light-boat stationed at Cornfield Point, near Saybrook, parted her moorings and went adrift during the prevalence of the gale of that day. A heavy sea was running, and the vessel was carried on the shoal, sustaining some damage from chafing upon the rough bottom in the more shallow spots. She was towed into New London harbor, and is so damaged that it will be necessary to have her hauled up and repaired before restoring her to her station.

FROM CALIFORNIA—EXCITING NEWS FROM UTAH.—The Overland California Mail of the 4th of April arrived on Thursday, having made the trip in twenty-one days and eight hours—the quickest trip yet.

Advices from Utah represent affairs in that Territory as worse than they have ever been, either before or since the arrival of the army there. The ill feeling had reached its culminating point, and the people were on the eve of open hostilities.

Differences also exist between Gov. Cumming and Gen. Johnston, touching their respective powers, and their is likewise an open rupture between the Executive and the Judiciary. The Federal Court find it impossible to exercise their functions, the Grand Jury refusing to find bills, and using every other means to screen parties accused of murder and other crimes. Judge Cradlebaugh had discharged the Jury, and had been compelled to discharge also all the prisoners in custody. On the occasion of the discharge of the Jury, the Judge charged the Mormons with having obstructed the officers of the Court, suppressed testimony, and refused to make provision for the confinement and maintenance of prisoners. Owing to the excited state of the popular feeling, a detachment of one thousand troops had moved from Camp Floyd, and encamped near Provo. Gov. Cumming had issued a proclamation, taking part with the Mormon sentiment.

It is not stated whether he had demanded the withdrawal of the troops from Provo, but his actions had laid him open to the charge of complicity with the Mormon theocracy. Much bad feeling also existed between the Mormon and the United States troops, though those of the latter who are stationed at Provo had behaved with remarkable forbearance. A collision, however, between the two parties, was considered imminent.

A series of letters, published in The Salt Lake Valley Times, giving the proceedings of Judge Cardlebaugh's Court at Provo, explain to some extent the difficulties and disturbances in the Territory. The misunderstanding between Gov. Cumming and Gen. Johnston seems to have grown out of a refusal of the latter to withdraw the troops from Provo, which had been sent there under a requisition of the Court to protect witnesses. Judge Cardlebaugh passed severe strictures on Gov. Cumming's proclamation, which has not been received here, characterizing it as informal, as evidently designed to exasperate the people against the troops, to obstruct the course of justice, and to excite insubordination in the army. He also says that, instead of the presence of the troops tending to terrify the inhabitants and to intimidate witnesses, jurors and persons testifying in behalf of the prosecution have been compelled to seek the protection of the troops against the threats and intimidations of the very inhabitants said to be so terrified.

Judge Cardlebaugh, who was sitting merely as a committing magistrate, would go to Camp Floyd the following week to continue the investigations, the testimony elicited implicating several Bishops and Presidents, civil authorities of the Territory, in murders at various times, all of whom fled to escape arrest; four Grand Jurors discharged by Cardlebaugh also fled. Cedar City and several other towns in the vicinity of the Mountain Meadows massacre are almost depopulated. It is also stated that the Indians, about a thousand strong, headed by white men, had mustered in that neighborhood, who express a determination to prevent the arrest of any one in that section. Judge Cardlebaugh emphatically denies that the Grand Jury protested against their discharge, as stated by The Desert News.

FROM WASHINGTON.—A private letter from a responsible source, dated Bogota, has been received at Washington; stating that the English holders of the bonds of the New-Granadian Government have demanded some substantial security for the payment of the interest and their ultimate redemption; and that the British Government is sustaining the demand. One of the propositions is, that the power to close the franchises of the Panama Railroad shall be assigned to the bondholders.

The intelligence brought by the Tennessee of a threatened bombardment of Vera Cruz by the British fleet, is not believed here, for the reason that the claims of both the English and the French Governments were satisfactorily settled two months ago. As, on the 6th, Miramon was at Orizaba which is sixty leagues from the City of Mexico, it is considered impossible that he could have reached the latter place on the 11th inst.

It is not true, as has been reported, that Mr. John Savage is going out as Secretary to the New Granadian mission, if for no other reason, for the inadequacy of compensation.

THE HARDEN MURDER CASE.—The Rev. J. S. Harden, charged with the murder of his wife, was arraigned before the Oyer and Terminer of Warren County, New Jersey, on Tuesday afternoon. The indictment had four counts, and charged that Harden, at different times between the 1st and 9th of March, administered arsenic to his wife, causing her death. The evidence against him, although entirely circumstantial, is very strong. His wife was taken sick in the afternoon, grew rapidly worse, and died within ten hours from the time she was taken. The symptoms were such as to excite suspicion, and a post mortem examination was held, when a quantity of arsenic was found in her stomach. An investigation was then made by the Coroner, during which time Harden manifested much uneasiness and excitement, and fainted several times. In his evidence before the Jury, he said that his wife told him very privately about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, that she had taken three doses of arsenic, as she did not wish to live any longer. Before the Jury returned their verdict, however, he departed for New York, and nothing more was heard of him until the news arrived of his arrest at Wheeling. It is also said that an apothecary at Easton recognized Harden as the person who purchased arsenic of him.

The mother of Harden died on Friday night last. She had been complaining for some time, but the terrible condition of her son was, probably, the immediate cause of her death.

The Sickles Tragedy after twenty days of intense excitement, this case has been brought to a close and a verdict of "Not Guilty" rendered. The closing scene is said to have been highly impressive and exciting, the feelings of the thousands in and about the Court room could not be restrained, and when the verdict was made known it was received with a yell of applause. Mr. Sickles was carried off in triumph by his friends through a crowd that covered him on every side with congratulations. He proceeded to the house of his friend Mr. McBlair, where he intends to remain five or six days before coming to New York.

The steamer St. Nicholas burst her boilers on Sunday last a short distance below St. Louis, forty-nine lives were lost and among them, Mr. Benj. V. Gline, first clerk of the boat, formerly of Portland, and his wife. Mr. Hobart H. Gillum, the 3d clerk, also of Portland, was slightly scalded.

The impending execution of a woman has been arrested by the interposition of Judge Wm. B. Wright. Mary Hartung, who was to have been executed in Albany last Wednesday, is to have a new trial. The Jury which convicted her, we hear, did so under the implied understanding that the Governor would commute her sentence. Another Jury will not be thus influenced. So, we may say she has escaped the gallows, and will probably expiate her crime by spending the remainder of her life in the State Prison.

The I. O. of Odd Fellows celebrated the fortieth anniversary at New York on Tuesday last, with services at Dr. Chapin's church in the A. M. and a procession and an oration at Madison square in the afternoon. The exercises were very interesting. P. G. S. Thomas Wildey, the founder of Odd Fellowship in the U. S. was present and made some remarks.

The Washington correspondent of The Commercial Advertiser learns from a private source that the health of Senator Sumner of Massachusetts is far from being restored, and that he is not likely to recover so far as to be able to resume his seat in the Senate at any time during the term for which he was elected.

Mrs. Anson G. Phelps, the well-known friend of the poor, died on Sunday, at her residence in New York at the age of 76. She was renowned for her charities, and her death will be sincerely lamented by all good hearts.

General and Mrs. Pierce are in Rome. The health of the latter is improved, though still feeble. They remain in Rome until the middle of April.

Senator Seward is making preparations for a voyage to Europe. He will be absent until late in the Fall.

WILLIAM TELL OUTDORE.—We saw a sportsman of this city, on Saturday last, shoot an apple from the head of a friend with a rifle. The apple was plumped neatly through the center, and the young man who had made a target of himself seemed to regard the matter as a very good joke. By request we omit the names, but vouch for the truth of the statement. The distance was about fifteen feet, and we were shown two apples that had been hit in the same way previous to our arrival.—Hartford Courant.

Revolver-villie needs looking after.

Wild Cherry Balsam.—The memory of Dr. Wistar is embalmed in the hearts of thousands, whom his Balsam of Wild Cherry has cured of coughs, colds, consumption, or some other form of Pulmonary disease.
