Introduction

Married persons have obtained legal divorces in Connecticut from the earliest time of colonial settlement. In the “Connecticut” colony (Hartford, Windsor, Wethersfield), parties petitioned the General Court for divorce while in the New Haven Colony the Court of Magistrates exercised sole authority in granting divorces, basing decisions on grounds such as adultery, failure of a husband to fulfill conjugal duties, and desertion.

After union of the two colonies in 1665, parties secured divorces through two channels, the General Court, later the General Assembly, and the judicial system, especially the Superior Court. In 1849 the Connecticut General Assembly placed “sole and exclusive jurisdiction of all petitions for divorce” in the Superior Courts, though evidence suggests that for many years the assembly occasionally passed a bill of divorce.

Connecticut divorce records are found in two formats in the superior court system: files and records. The files contain the original working papers of the court case. The file usually contains the original petition to the court for the divorce, as well as any other supporting documentation submitted by either the plaintiff or defendant and may include a copy of the judgment rendered by the court. The Connecticut State Library has a great number of these divorce files within the State Archives, and in some cases, they have been microfilmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah. The microfilms are available for use at the Connecticut State Library or perhaps in digital format via the FamilySearch catalog or at a Family History Center, which is usually administered by the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) church in a local community. The divorce records on the other hand, are the official record of the court which is registered in a bound volume and usually contains a brief outline of the case, and includes the final judgment.

The following index covers approximately 6,673 entries taken from thirty-eight (38) boxes of New Haven County Superior Court, Papers by Subject, Divorce Files (1712-1899) and five (5) boxes of New Haven County Superior Court, Papers by Subject, Divorce No Appearance Files (1808-1900). These New Haven County Superior Court files are stored in the State Archives as part of archival record group (RG) #003, Records of the Judicial Department. The original New Haven County Superior Court Record volumes are likely in the custody of the New Haven Superior Court, 235 Church Street, New Haven, CT 06510; Contact information: jud.ct.gov/directory/directory/directions/30.htm. Additional New Haven Superior Court records are also found at The New Haven Museum, 114 Whitney Ave., New Haven, CT; website: www.newhavenmuseum.org/.

This divorce index is divided into two parts with two sections each as follows:

Part I (pages 1-254)

New Haven County Superior Court, Papers by Subject, Divorce Files, 1712-1899

Divorce files removed from the New Haven County Superior Court files and placed in a special "Papers by Subject" category along with other court records of interest such as Conservators & Guardians, Inquests, and Revolutionary War Pensions to name a few. This collection consists of thirty-eight (38) boxes of New Haven County Superior Court Divorce Files covering the years 1712-1899 which is reflected by 5,391 individual entries arranged in the following two sections:

Husband Index: (pages 1-159) is arranged first alphabetically by the surname and then by given name and middle initial/name of the husband.

Wife Index: (pages 160-254) is arranged first alphabetically by the maiden name/former name and then by given name and middle initial/name of the wife. The former name of the wife is not necessarily the maiden name as oftentimes the name provided on the record is known to be a surname from a previous marriage. Those entries without the wife's former name were excluded from this section of the divorce index.

Additional information provided within each entry includes the year of marriage, the date of the court action, and the box number where the divorce is filed.

Part II (pages 255-345)

New Haven County Superior Court, Papers by Subject, Divorce Files,
No Appearance Files 1808-1900

Divorce files removed from the New Haven County Superior Court files and placed in a special "Papers by Subject" No Appearance Divorce category along with other court records of interest such as Conservators & Guardians, Inquests, and Revolutionary War Pensions to name a few. This collection consists of five (5) boxes of New Haven County Superior Court, Papers by Subject, No Appearance Divorce Files covering the years 1808-1900 and is reflected by 1,282 individual entries arranged in the following two sections:

Husband Index: (pages 255-315) is arranged first alphabetically by the surname and then by given name and middle initial/name of the husband.

Wife Index: (pages 316-345) is arranged first alphabetically by the maiden name/former name and then by given name and middle initial/name of the wife. The former name of the wife is not necessarily the maiden name as oftentimes the name provided on the record is known to be a surname from a previous marriage. Those entries without the wife's former name were excluded from this section of the divorce index.

Withinin the New Haven County Supeior Court, Papers by Subject, No Appearance Divorce Files are a great many cases that were dismissed, withdrawn or not finalized. When possible the information about such a case is included in the notes column.

Although every effort was made to transcribe each name correctly, unintended errors may appear in this divorce index. If a given or surname was clearly illegible or unclear, the symbol "(?)" was added next to the name. It is hoped that in the future, as staffing and time allows, new indexes for other Connecticut Superior Court divorce records or files will be created for those courts not currently available.

Additional information captured during indexing, such as the cause of the complaint, the individual's race, or disposition of child custody are not included in this index in order to maintain clarity. However that data is accessible through an internal database at the History & Genealogy Unit.

We wish to convey our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to all of the staff of the History & Genealogy Unit of the Connecticut State Library for their support and assistance during the creation of this index. In addition, this index could not have been made possible without the editing assistance of Carolyn Picciano of the History & Genealogy Unit and Debra Pond of the Law & Legislative Unit who aided in deciphering so many names in the original New Haven Superior Court files that were at times seemingly unreadable.
