The Mission Band will meet on Friday evening next at the house of Mrs. Louise D. Keeler.

The special town meeting on Wednesday, was fully attended and an immense flood of words used for the amount of business transacted.

ROWAYTON. The ladies of the Baptist church have undertaken some much needed repairs on the interior of their modest church.

The Centennial building on Contentment Island is rented to Thompson, Dean, & Co., president of the Detroit (Mich.) Works.

DARIEN. Darien has lost her barber, much to her regret. Fred failing in his payments, the former proprietor on Saturday dismantled the shop of his furniture.

Mr. William Warren, who has been feeble for many months, is now very sick. His trouble is asthma and palpitation of the heart.

The country is looking very beautiful around Darien at the present time. The trees and the fields are clad in green.

Rev. Mr. Arrington spent Sunday in Stamford. In the morning he spoke in the Congregational church, and in the evening at the Presbyterian.

There was a praise meeting Sunday evening before the sermon which was really inspiring. The choir and organist did themselves great credit in rendering the pieces selected.

The Ladies Missionary Society held an annual meeting last Wednesday afternoon. It was throughout the most interesting ever held on such an occasion.

A large loaded with coal, for the Stamford Gas Light Company, was sunk in the Canal last week Thursday afternoon.

The new organ for the R. O. Church, it is expected will be put up during next week and first used Sunday, May 23d.

Thursday afternoon, a spark from a passing train set fire to the roof of Matt Fagan's house in Dublin. Very little damage resulted.

All of the Sunday Schools are to unite in a Rallye Centenary celebration. A parade of the schools is one feature proposed.

Mr. Charles Parker, of Clark & Hoyt's jewelry store, was severely burned in the face and neck by the ignition of gas from a fluid lamp.

The Hochstetters, a large and handsome group yacht recently purchased by Mr. Clark Dewing, of Greenport, L. I., arrived at her new quarters on Monday.—Herald.

The Humane Horse Company have invited Putnam Hose, of South Norwalk, and Hope Hose, of Norwalk, for the 27th.

Mr. Orest Deley was at work on Rundle & White's addition last week, when a bunch of iron fell from above him and went through the ground floor. In his passage it fell near to Mr. Deley as to clip him on the back of the hand, shaving the skin off. If it had struck him square it would have killed him.

At the Borough election on Tuesday, the Citizens Ticket, a combination of Republican and Democratic, were elected as follows:—

Warden, Levi P. Freadwell. Burgess, William H. Clark, Charles H. Hoyt, John L. Wient, Samuel C. Holly, Andrew J. Hweil, Abel S. Hawley.

Monday night some one broke into the house of William Brooks, on Elm street, and stole some $80 in money, a gold watch and chain, and other jewelry.

At Brookside park, the Danbury & Norwalk railway is to erect a fountain twelve feet high, which will be maintained by running mid of white quartz. The water will be forced by a hydraulic ram.

Messrs. Lacey & Downs, whose factory was destroyed on the first of April, have purchased of O. D. Taylor two acres of land nearly opposite Messrs. Lacey's factory, and are making preparations to put up a large factory there.

Saturday Messrs. B. E. Copenhaver and Hendrick Barnum, deposited in the brook connecting Lake Kenosia, and Sanford's Pond, 5,000 land-locked salmon fry. The fish came from the State hatching establishment.

The Danbury and Norwalk railway company are to make an improvement at the main station by laying a track for freight trains on the north side of the freight tracks, thus making the switching of passenger trains less frequent. They will also build a new shed for passenger trunks, etc., which will be under the care of an under agent at once. Changes in the station itself are contemplated.

Mr. H. H. Meritt has finally determined to open a hat shop in the old boot factory, and has taken steps to start up immediately. Mr. W. L. Barlow, who with O. B. Benedict & Co., will be the general superintendent of the factory.

Eye was the first and only woman who didn't gather up her dress in both hands and yell at the sight of a snake.

WESTPORT.

Fortunately for the good people who had been encouraged to hope for an abundance of fruit this year, no frost came with the extreme cold following last week's heated storm.

At the testimonial about to be presented to Mr. Patrick Murphy, late station agent at Saugatuck, and now a conductor on the New York and New Haven Railroad, that gentleman will have the pleasure of realizing that nearly all the best folks in town have contributed to the gift, which will in consequence be all the more valuable.

The funeral of the late Miss Caroline Graham, who died on Wednesday last, will be held at 10 o'clock on Friday afternoon from the Congregational Church, and the burial in a lot adjoining Evergreen Cemetery. There was a large attendance of mourning friends.

BRIDGEPORT.

Capt. S. C. Kingman, so well known in this county as inspector of rifle practice for the Fourth Regiment, has lost two daughters within five months, and the third is expected to die.

The second was united on Tuesday morning, May 11th, to Frank S. Buckingham of this city. The train this made one started off in a carriage for a bridal tour through Connecticut and Massachusetts. The method of travel commends itself to all the sensibly inclined.

What could be a more delightful wedding party, than a drive through country roads, paved with alternating sunshine and shadow, the apple trees flinging their bloom in the path of the travelers, and the bluebirds singing love songs for their delinquency?

That, this romantic bridal tour may be a type of the life journey awaiting Mr. and Mrs. Buckingham, is the fervent desire of their many friends.

Thursday of last week, was somewhat a gloomy day in Bridgeport. The shadow of the gallows was felt throughout our city. While the general opinion was that the execution was just, and on the whole desirable, yet such a tragedy could not occur in the midst of us without exciting deep emotion. The precise time at which the criminal would be hurled into eternity was not announced and so a strain of uncertainty was cast upon the minds of all.

At the same time, the gallows had been the instrument of justice all Bridgeport would have listened in painful suspense for the fall of the knife. While there was no sympathy for the parricide there was a great sympathy for the man. And every one breathed more freely when the infamy was done.

A new man of great mental suffering, although in manner he has been somewhat indifferent and stolid. He has amused himself with writing his auto-biography which the Standard published on Friday. Who can explain the reason that some of the above mentioned for the masses? It is estimated that at least three thousand people gathered about the gallows on Thursday. At one time the pressure was so great that it was feared that the wall of the enclosure in which the gallows stood might be broken down. There is certainly something morbid in this.

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without taking Chloroform.

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ct. has the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years—the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wretch, a walking skeleton. In this terrible state she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir."

The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than to take a hundred gun. To restore her general health Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood, regulated the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, and thus insured a new life to the long-suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. It is sold by all druggists. Write to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

SIMMONS' PATENT REGULATOR.

Among all the disagreeable consequences that follow the decay of the teeth, an impure breath must be the most mortifying and unpleasant to the possessor, and it is the most reasonable and offensive in society; and yet the cause of it may be removed by cleaning your teeth daily with the famous REGULATOR.

It purifies and sweetens the breath, cleans and refreshes the mouth, and gives a pearl-like gloss to the teeth. Gentlemen, indulge in smoking should clean their teeth with REGULATOR, as it removes all unpleasant odors of the week. Ask your druggist for it.

Trace Up. There is serious meaning in this expression. That wary step, lagging in the feeling of the man who has been "traced up" by the "snags" of the law. Be assured, a serious and perhaps fatal disease is close in its work. The system wants cleansing of winter impurities; the sluggish blood needs to be sent in swift and clear currents through the veins.

The system wants cleansing of winter impurities; the sluggish blood needs to be sent in swift and clear currents through the veins.

Mr. Northrop writes from Washington of the opinions of Gen. Grant:

To the charge that he is more bold than necessary in his conduct, and unworthy of a third term reply that he is only following the example, or rather the precept, of the president himself, whose loyalty to the party has never been questioned.

And in this connection it may be stated that last evening Charles T. Bellman of this city, directed a large number of correspondents from Germany which had been forwarded to him by the police of various cities and towns where investigations have been conducted in reference to the mysterious Morris Abel who has figured in the last two trials.

This party who was without cause now the murderer of the old man Schulte, and though he may have been the party who struck the blow which took Schulte's life, still it is thought he was the one who engineered the trial, and paid the assassin's wages.

The attorney for Bucholz, General Smith, and Mr. Bollman, who firmly believe in the innocence of the crime charged against him, are having their investigations as to Abel pushed to the utmost limit, and the police on the other side of the Atlantic are working hard to get the truth.

It has been ascertained from the letters received last evening, that Schulte lived in Cologne for six weeks before he left Germany for this country, and that Abel lived in Ehrenfeld, a small town adjoining Cologne, and bearing the same relation to it that New Haven bears to the city of New York.

Abel was being conveyed by a horse railway. Abel was a member of the firm of Frank & Abel, linen dealers, and as such traveled among the small towns taking orders. His travels took him often to Westphalia and there he became acquainted with the late Schulte.

It is much about the affairs of the murdered man, his habits, wealth, etc. Abel is an Israelite, and Schulte did the banking business he did in the old world with an Israelite firm in Cologne, and it is the opinion of the counsel for both who have investigated the matter that Schulte brought to this country.

At all events Abel left this country very mysteriously some two months after Schulte died, timing his leaving so as to reach America after Schulte had left Europe for this country.

From the time of his leaving until his appearance in New Haven, he has been in hiding from his relatives, and from the time of his disappearance nothing has been heard of him or his relatives in this country or in Germany, and all attempts to find him or any trace of him have proved fruitless.

It has never been heard from in Germany, and the counsel for the country and the counsel for the defense have equally in the dark as to his whereabouts. Soon after his disappearance there was an outbreak on one of the passenger lists of an out-going German steamer the name of "M. Abel" as one of the passengers.

It is now thought to be either the name or the name of the ship on his passport to drive the detective of the secret. It has been positively ascertained that he never landed in Germany. Whether Abel knew anything about the murder, is of course a matter of mere speculation, but his actions certainly have a suspicious appearance.

The detectives in Germany are anxious to find out his whereabouts as are the detectives representing the defense. Abel's sisters and several of his relatives and friends have made depositions to the effect they know nothing of him or his whereabouts.

The labor in which he was employed by Bucholz's friends have failed to find any clue which connects Schulte's relatives with the crime. The brother who inherited Schulte's wealth now lives the life of a recluse, and will see and talk with one about the murder.

The New Haven Palladium. The New York Evening Telegram has collected a very interesting history of the fifty years which the New Haven Palladium has just completed.

Professor Cyrus Northrop was elected by a unanimous vote of the senate of Connecticut at the spring session of 1862, the year in which he became Mr. Babcock's successor. He is a native of New Haven.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

M. Pellet of the French Academy, has determined the value of different substances in manures for leets to be in the following order: (1) phosphoric acid, (2) magnesia, (3) lime, (4) potash, (5) soda, (6) nitrogen.

The great map of the moon completed by the astronomers of the United States, after twelve years of labor, shows 28,836 craters and ring-like formations on the lunar surface, and 248 hills and clefts. Dr. Schmidt estimates that the number would be increased to 100,000 craters in a complete chart showing the moon as seen with a magnifying power of six hundred times.

A French physician, who has studied the effects of turpentine on some three hundred patients, arrives at the conclusion that the purgative effects produced by turpentine fumes can never be sufficiently severe to cause death unless they are continued in a very confined and ill-ventilated room.

Toughened glass seems to be capable of a great variety of applications. Glass railway sleepers have already been tried, and now an English manufacturer proposes using this material for car and motor car axles, as well as for transparent trucks and several other articles.

A Berlin inventor has produced a new kind of clock, consisting principally of a cylinder of sponge. By means of relays, it is stated that London has been placed in direct communication with Calcutta over 7000 miles of wire.

The forests of the globe are estimated to cover about one-fifth of the land surface. Some time ago, Prof. D. E. Hughes noticed that when iron or steel wire was immersed in water for even a few minutes it became excessively brittle, and that this effect was invariably produced upon all kinds of iron or steel. He has since performed some experiments, and has become convinced that it arises from the absorption of hydrogen from the water.

Another observer has proven the curious fact, notwithstanding the brittleness produced, the tensile strength of the wire remains unaffected. When the hydrogenized wire is heated the hydrogen is expelled, and Mr. Roberts states that a specimen of wire which swelled and became twenty times the volume of the wire. It is expected that useful applications may be made of this new compound.

During last winter, whenever a zone of high barometric pressure covered France, it was found to be warmer than the mean of the year. The meteorological observations taken at the Clermont station, which is 3500 feet lower, this remarkable fact is attracting much attention from meteorologists.

It is reported that in Arizona the entrance of smoke into conservatories has been found to hasten the flowering of certain plants. In the height of the season, a green house lays from 2,000 to 3,000 eggs in twenty-four hours.

It has been quite a general belief that extremely cold winters exert a powerful effect in reducing the number of insects, but observations during the last two years show that insects do not die in winter, but hibernate.

A tube of "Canton's phosphorus," or sulphide of calcium, prepared more than a century ago, is found to be still capable of phosphorescence. As it is to this substance that the phosphorescent properties of the luminous paint are due, the durability of the latter seems to be thus assured.

To illustrate a recent lecture, M. Baoul Pictet cooled a medalion weighing thirty-three pounds from frozen quicksilver. In a recently published work, Count d'Ureel asserts that in Bolivia, Peru and other South American countries, he has met with an insect which after its death is transformed into a plant. He describes and figures this creature as a thick hard grub, with distinct articulations. When about to die it buries itself in the earth, and there gradually increases in circumference until it presents a rounded shape similar to that of a potato. A stem is then put forth, which in the spring months bears a crop of blue flowers.

Under the auspices of the King of the Belgians an establishment is to be formed in Eastern Africa for the capture and training of elephants.

Dr. Carpenter considers it possible that at some remote geological period a connecting strip of land may have existed between Europe and America, and that New Zealand, Tasmania, and South America may have been linked together by ridges of dry land, which in the course of time were broken up by the action of the sea.

Geologists have supposed that a great continent, which they have called Atlantis, once existed between Africa and America, but Dr. Carpenter regards the evidence of it as very unsatisfactory.

The way in which the first strike occurred in history (that of 1850) was disposed of by Edward III, a curious illustration of the temper and ideas of the age. Workmen of all classes having deserted their employments and labor being at a standstill throughout England, the king promulgated the first "statute of labor," enacting that every man and woman, whether free or bond, within the age of three-score, not having landed property or other means of livelihood, should be bound to work for any employer requiring their labor, at the ancient rate of wages; that no contumacious servant, workman, or laborer, should be permitted, and that all artificers, servants and laborers refusing to serve, or even venturing to leave town or district to which they belonged, should be punished by fine, imprisonment or the stocks.

Henry VIII was equally summary, one clause of his ordinance on the subject being, "whosoever shall be found guilty of any such offense, shall be put to death, as showing how traps were dealt with in those days: "The first time they be found so begging they shall be soundly scourged for a public example; the second time, their ears shall be cut off; and the third time they shall be put to death."
