THORNS AND ROSES.

F. E. WEATHERLY.

From morn till night John's hammer rang, The tale of labor telling ; But oft he marked with envious eye Squire Hardy's cosy dwelling. Oue day the Squire himself came by 'My horse has lost a shoe, John ; And its a least of all my cares-But cares don't come to you, John; The lightning struck my barns last night; My child near death is laid, John :

No! life is not what folks suppose,

'Tis not of roses made, John." And then the Squire rode sadly off. John watched him in amazement, And, as he watched, two faces bright Peeped from the open casement. He heard his wife's voice, sweet and low, His baby's merry laughter; It shook each smoky rafter.

"I would not change . with 'Squire," said he "For all his land and money." There's thorns for him as well as me But not such roses bonny?"

"Ambtious, Vain and Weak." GENERAL GRANT'S OPINION OF THE DEMO CRATIC CANDIDATE FOR THE PRESIDENCY

The Cinclnnati Gazette prints the report of an interview between the Rev. C. H Fowler, D. D., and General Grant, which gives some startling points in connection with the inside history of Hancock's Order No. 40. General Grant talked freely to Dr. Fowler, and after the interview gave his written consent to its publication under certain restrictions as to time. The conversation took place in General Grant's library, at Galena, on the 21st of September. Speaking of Hancock, the ex-President

Johnson bent his energies to lefeat its enforcement and would find pretexts to dodge round it. Then congress would pass another law to hedge him up there. So seven districts of the south, except the power any civil officer of any grade, judge or governor. When I was made general and they were determining my powers and duties they gave the general, by accident, I think, or without seeing all it involved, co-ordinate I was senior, it gave me authority. General Sheridan was sent to the department of Louisiana and Texas. He is very shrewd and very able. He kept his eyes open, learning rapidly the men who were not worthy to occupy their places, and discovering competent and worthy men to put in their places. The Legislature of Louisiana passed a law authorizing the issue of $7,000,000 of levee bonds, ostensibly for the levee. They conditioned their sale on their bringing to the State not less than 80 per cent. of their face. The governor and three commissioners were to place the bonds on the market, but they soon found out the bonds would not bring more than 40 per cent. To avoid the law they invented the plan of borrowing money and using the bones as collateral. They could borrow about 34 or 35 per cent. of the face on the bonds. Just at this junc ture, to prevent these men from defrauding the state, General Sheridan took off the heads of the governors and commissioners so quick they did not know what ailed them and appointed good men in their places. For some reason, the removed men were very anxious to be re-appointed. They employed Reverdy Johnson and another lawyer to work for them, agreeing to pay them $250, 000 if they were reinstated. This is a great deal of money for four men to pay for positions, unless there is some special gain in the case. Reverdy Johnson came to me, but I was so stupid and stubborn that I could not be induced to reappoint them. He went to Andrew Johnson and made his case, and Andrew Johnson sent to me and asked me to reinstate those men. I refused to do so. He said : "Reinstate them if it is only for one day. I will promise that they will resign." I thought Johnson might not know of the motive why they were so anxious to be reinstated, and thinking I would do him a great service in keeping him from a blunder. I told him that one hour would do these men as well as one day, and I unfolded their intent. But Johnson insisted on their being reinstated. I refused and excused myself. Johnson then removed General Sheridan and appointed General Hancock. He called Hancock to Washington to instruct him in defeating the laws of congress concerning reconstruction. As soon as I learned that Hanocck was in town I called at his hotel instead of sending for him. I wanted to see him privately in his own room. I found him was determined to please the democratic party and the south. He went south, and removed the governor and commissioners that General Sheridan had appointed. I instantly telegraphed him not to appoint to to give me reasons, by mail, for removing the men. He telegraphed in a long reply, costing the government $250, his reasons. I sufficient; to send by mail other reasons. He again telegraphed about the same points, only not quite so long, costing only $150. He telegraphed that if he could not have freedom to act, his usefulness would be destroyed, and that he would have to ask to be relieved. I telegraphed him to revoke the order. He asked Johnson to relieve him, as no one else could. That is the inner history and spirit of his celebrated order No. 40. This order resulted in the loss of many lives. I know of cases and can give them. His stablished peace, but I can demonstrate that he did not subject the military power to the civil, but that he used his military power to overthrow the civil." A Great Evil.

The foe of American social life is in the tendency to luxury and effeminacy among the well-to do young women of our American cities and large towns. They do not realize how this dreadful mania for expensive pleasures, and a life of alternate idleness and amusements, is destroying their health, abolishing true marriage, feeding the flame of gross sensuality and intemperance among young men, and saddening the hopes of the best parents in the land. Some of them will never know it in this world. Thousands of good hearted young girls are sacrificed every year when a little wise and loving guidance could save them. But we fcel that they will pass away like the flowers of June and a more hardy and resolute class occupy their places. American society will shed every class of triflers male or female, that does not do its work, as the forests from their dream of social indulgences: learn to live out of doors: to build up their health: to cultivate more simple tastes in dress, and more moderation in pleasure; study domestic economy; study social skill and tact: fit themselves for the noblest positions ever yet offered to their sex, and learn that woman is the soul of American life, not the tinsel on its garment.

EDITORS OF GAZETTE :-That the true inwardness of the Democratic party continues to unfold itself, is demonstrated by the following circular addressed to German Catholics, and published in a non partisan paper of recent date: The leaders and members of the German of organization. Already they have thousands of German Catholic citizens mustered in as members of their secret German Catho-lic lodges connected with every Catholic church. They have established a secret

German Catholic society, each member of which has to bind himself by his oath to stand true to the secrets of the society. The Catholic priest is the president of such lodge, and the members must first obtain permission from the priest; if he thinks the candidate to be a good German Catholic then he will be admitted to join the lodge. Each candi-date has to be balloted for before becoming members present in favor of the candidate is necessary before he can be admitted. After this vote is taken the new member has to take an oath that he will strictly keep all the secrets and stand by the constitution of the Grand Lodge of the German Catholic PRINCIPLES OF THE ORGANIAZATION. The main principles of this organization and of its constitution and by-laws is that every member shall vote the democratic ticket; that the democratic party is the party where they have to look for favors, and that the Catholic Church is the only true church, brothers and more so, and that favors must be extended solely to our German Catholic Secret Society and other true German Catholics. That every member must work against the system of free schools in the United States, and that if we cannot do away olic Secret Society, must see to it that Catholic teachers be appointed to all free schools and teach the Catholic Bible and Catholic children have to go, and that if we cannot get teachers appointed it would be bes for Catholic parents to keep their children at home and not send them to those "black re ublican, devlish free schools." Starting a Paper.

It was nearly twenty years ago, says the Carson (Nevada) Appeal, when Dan DeQuill and Mark Twain attempted to start a paper in Mendocino County. They took the type paper establishment in San Francisco, and loading the stuff on a big wagon, struck out They packed their type just as it stood in the forms, tied up the articles with stout cords by a process well known to printers, and Church deem worthy. Twain took a great fancy to this gun, and offered fifty dollars for it, with two kegs of powder. The emigrants were glad enough to part with it, as they concluded the time for its use had passed. Dan thought the purchase of artilery and military supplies was a reckless piece of extravagance, and said as much; but Mark replied:

"When we start our paper we must fire salute; a newspaper office with artillery has howitzer; if a man comes in for a retraction we can blow him into the next county. The

This silenced argument, and the next day the two journalists took the road with their printing outfit and artillery.

The next night they camped in a mountain ravine, twenty miles from Simpson's, and after building the usual camp fire, fell asleep. About cleven o'clock the horses awakened them by prancing about, and the two journalists were led to the conclusion that a party of Indians were making arrangements for a forms could be distinguished about half a mile away, at the foot of the ravine. The idea of encountering Indians had never entered the heads of the two fortune seekers, and they had no arms; suddenly Twain brightened up, remarking: "The howitzer!"

"We've got nothing but powder," said Dan. "Well; powder'll scare 'em; and we'll load her up." The piece was immediately loaded with a good big charge, and the two men felt quite certain that the Indians, hearing the roar of the gun, would beat an unconditional retreat. The piece was hardly loaded and placed in position when about forty of the redskins came charging up the ravine. Twain seized a brand from the camp fire when Dan velled, "Hold on!" as he rammed something in the mouth of the piece and re-"Turn 'er loose."

The roar of the howitzer echoed through the lonely forest, and the savages, with frantic cries of pain, reeled down the ravine in wild confusion. "What in the -- did you put in?" aske

A lady from New Jersey was lately in Washington. In a letter to a friend in New York she says: "I had the good fortune to ride from the Capitol with three Southern nembers of Congress, who were relieving their pent-up emotions by some loud, and to ne interesting talk. The Fall Elections. The elections of to-day in Ohio and Indiana will, in one event, decide the Presidential election. If both go Republican our Democratic friends will agree with us that "the game is over," and General Hancock may in future draw his pay and rations in peace and quiet, undisturbed by any illusory dreams of an unattainable Presidency. For, States is indispensable; outside of them it is backed by the whole power, resources, and enthusiasm of the North from Maine to California. To the Democratic party both are indispensable, for they have no chance in Connecticut or New Jersey, and neither New York nor Indiana alone could supplement their "Superb" solid Southern vote sufficiently to seat their candidate. Therefore defeat in Ohio or Indiana which they have been trying to discount in advance, means political danger of the most pressing kind, and defeat in Ohio and Indiana means simply political drouth. How we in Connecticut have "kept our end up" the recent town elections show; how our Western brethren have done let the news of to-morrow tell us. Within twenty-four hours every one will be wiser as to the November result than he is now. To us the danger, if any, seems greater in Ohio than in Indiana. Indiana is a Democratic State, and our enthusiastic Ohio Republicans have carried the war into Africa so warmly that they may have left cursion of the enemy. In that one danger said, and while neither speaker made the least visit him the previous night and had not relies the only reason for apprener Democratic still hunt "for meat" (with mules) is their only chance in Ohio, and such a chance we are confident from all advices the Ohio Republicans have not left them. But let the thought of it give caution to our friends at home. The price of freedom from Southern domination is eternal vigilance. For three weeks more let every muscle be strained, not an effort relax, and the result will show that "mules" are no more successful in Connecticut than out of it.

It is comfortable, however, to reflect that four weeks from to-day the mud-flinging will be over and the Democratic papers, after speculating about President Garfield's Cabinet, will settle calmly down to the belief that he is not a bad fellow after all. But it is painful to think, on the other hand, that an honest, high-souled, faithful servant of the Republic, whose whole being feels an accusation of dishonesty whose than a blow, should have been compelled to undergo such an ordeal as Democratic slanders have made of this campaign. And it is shameful to think, now that the Democratic party has learned this cheap and nasty way of managing a political campaign, that no candidate can ever be nominated on the Republican ticket without a certainty of much the same experience. If any man by life, services, and experience, seemed to have earned an exemption from such attacks, it was Garfield beyond all others, and the causeless and baseless slanders which have been heaped upon him are enough to drive honest men even further from the politics than they have been in the citizen can aid in the work. Remember, Republicans, in doubtful states one per cent. of the vote generally turns the scale. If, then, one in fifty of you can secure the promise of a Democratic or doubtful voter to cast his ballot for the Republican electors, the State is safe beyond a peradventure. Make it so!

Good Roads. One of our prominent citizens who enjoys the charming drives about old Norwalk-and who does not?-expresses his delight at the universally good roads all about the town where the selectmen have had control. We can add our own judgment that they have not been so generally good in twenty years. While those in the Borough, we do not remember ever to have seen so bad. If you doubt it take the little patch of hillocks in are expected from Philadelphia alone. Many front of Jackson's store, for instance.

The Assessors.

The members of the new Board of Assessors promptly commenced their labors last week, and are now ready to receive lists. They will furnish blanks upon application. Tax payers read their official notice and govern yourselves accordingly.

The Democrat gives the following encouraging morsel to its candidates for Sher iff and Congressman. Speaking of the Norwalk, it says : "Bickerings, quarrels, dissensions, is the history of the party. It makes every republican smile when you suggest that they may elect their ticket in a local election. Well, we must admit that this is about so and we presume it will be continued just so their melodious voices. long as "the party" will load all its honors on new candidates and desert all who have always been faithful and true to the party, as was conspicuously the case with James Mitchell last week.

A Temperance Mayor.

The Sentinel emphasizes the announcement that South Norwalk has secured Temperance Mayor. We have no doubt of it, and yet we deem the insinuation that Mayor Swartz was anyless such, a false imputation. We are sorry to see our esteemed contemporary [not only losing its head, but its hitherto reputation for fair and honest ding with its opponents. Nothing is to be gained by false imputations, and the Sentinel in its ludricious efforts to be neutral, should learn of the old adage: "be just and fear

The Crusader Cast Iron Furnace

Made under J. M. Thatcher's Patent, granted Nov. 19 Tubular Body Shell, Radiator cast in one Piece

Anti-Clinker Grate. Pin Radiating Fire-Pot This Furnace is well known to the trade as being the most powerful heating Furnace ever put on the market, and combining under the Thatcher patent more good points than exist in any other Cast Iron Furnace yet made. Some nine or ten thousand of the Furnaces are now in use, more than 5,000 of them in buildings of all classes owned by the Astors of New York

CONSTRUCTION.

As will be seen by referring to the cut the grate and fire bed are entirely new and of two parts only. The Radiating points on the fire-pot give the best security against overheating the air by extending a large radiating surface to come in contact with the air to be heated. The tubes in the body shell and in this Furnace through which the air is forced being cast without joints they will not burn out and the air cannot escape through them without being raised to a very high temperature.

All are anticipating an interesting occasion on Wednesday at the Congregational church. There will be a semi-annual meeting of the New Haven branch of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions. There will be returned missionaries present, who will address the meeting. Services begin at a quarter to ten a. m. A collation will be served at noon in the lecture room. All who are disposed to cause fairly and eloquently, will address the attend, are invited, and will be more than

Mr. Bradford gave his people two able and convincing sermons last Sunday. In the morning on "The Being of God," and in the evening on "The Bible Idea of Civil Government." Though rather lengthy, both were listened to with unwearied interest from beginning to end. The day was pleasant and the audience very large.

The banner of the Republican Club here,

RIDGEFIELD.

One of the largest audiences ever assembled in Ridgefield, attended the Congregational church, on Sunday morning to listen to the farewell sermon of Rev. D. W. Teller. He preached very eloquently and made a deep impression on his hearers. Rev. S. H. Platt was called to Ocean Grove, last week,, by the death of his fatherin-law, Rev. Heman Bangs, formerly Presiding Elder of this district. Rev. Mr. Waters of Bethel, is expected to preach in the Congregational church, next C. B. Northrop has contracted to build a new house for Hiram Davis on Prospect

Clark Keeler has re-covered his house. The Republican Meeting Friday night was addressed by H. G. Newton and W. K. Townsend of New Haven. Able speakers are expected next Friday, and on the 22nd Samuel Fessenden of Stamford. The cottages on High Ridge are nearly luminated his house and addressed the Boys itecture.

REDDING.

On the afternoon of Sept. 30th, during recess in school, which he was attending, Elbert, the eldest son of Mr. John Sanford of Redding Ridge, while passing over a stone wall received the fracture of the small bone of one of his limbs; Dr. Annie Reid reduced the fracture and the patient is doing well. On Sunday evening, Oct. 3d, there was at the Methodist church a union prayer meeting led by Rev. W. J. Jennings.

At the annual town meeting it appeared from the report of the selectmen that the expenses of the town were: Roads and bridges, 798 10 Salaries,

Support of poor, Miscellaneous expenses, Interest on outstanding orders, Taxes, Schools,

Total, Indebtedness of the town,

It was voted that the various town officers receive $2 a day for actual services rendered; also when this meeting adjourns it adjourn for two weeks to take into consideration the manner of repairing the roads. There seems to be a variety of sentiment on this subject, and dissatisfaction with recent methods. There was made an appropriation of $3,000 for schools; this is anadvance of $500 on last year. Rev. A. Welton was re-elected school visitor, and W. E. Duncombe collector of taxes with a salary of $75. The tax was gved at one cent on the dollar. Senator Eaton addressed the Democrats of Bridgeport, on Saturday evening last. Those who heard the speech, speak of it as a sort of "what is it." According to Mr. Eaton, "the tariff question is out of politics." Does he suppose the majority of the people

Mrs. L. A. Snowden.

On Friday, morning, Oct. 8th, Mrs. Lauentine A. Snowden, passed quietly to her neavenly rest after a brief illness. She had ust entered upon the seventy-seventh year f her age. Although quite a number of ears ago she was affected with a shock of paralysis, her vigorous constitution remained comparatively free from physical infirmty until it gave way very gently at last, the city of New York, in the society of which, a half century ago, she was a gifted ter of Gen. Robert Bogardus, who up to the time of his death was a leading member of the New York bar, during the war of 1812 was a colonel in the regular army, and toward the close of the war held the responsiden became a resident of South Norwalk nearly twenty-one years ago. She was a member of the Protestant Episcopal church but entirely undenominational in feeling and during her residence here she united with the Congregational church of South Norwalk. Her piety was unaffected and sincere. A kind and affectionate wife and mother, unsparing of self in her devotion to the welfare and happiness of her husband

What is the Matter? The Democrat seems to be terribly stirred up, and is haunted with the nightmare of 'traitors in the camp." It would seem that certain Democrats in Westport, as well as Norwalk, are tired of blindly treading where the "leaders" point the way, and are determined to act independently in the matter of bolting the nominations of Sheriff Sanford ator has never yet had a chance to offer his and our Ex-Republican friend Peet for Con-

Is the Vote Legal? EDITORS GAZLTTE :- Can you tell one who is not posted in law and legal decisions why it is that the canvassing board in the Second voting district, while counting the votes cast at the recent election in this town, threw out a portion of the names voted for and counted the rest as legal votes, while all the names were on one ballot? It seems easonable to suppose that if one portion of the ballot was defective it must vitiate the whole, and that it was the duty of the canassers to throw out the entire ballot. It is true that the throwing out would have changed the result in two cases only, but is right to deprive these two of the office which it is believed they were justly elected. hope the matter will be looked into by hose "learned in the law," and that full justice will be done in the premises.

Model Democratic Unairman. On the day Hon. Aaron Sanford was cominated for Sheriff, Lewis B. Bradley, chairman of the Democratic town committee of Westport, publicly made to several dele-gates and other gentlemen the following

"I have twelve horses in my stable and $500,—I will kill every one of my horses and spend the $500 to defeat Aaron Sanand spend the $500 to defeat Aaron Sanford." Since that time he has continued at all times to make similar statements in his bar room and elsewhere, and particularly on last Wednesday evening when Senator Eaton spoke in that village he announced his intention to defeat Mr. Sanford, this was done in his public bar room in presence of a number of citizens, including Hon. Sherman Morehouse of Wilton.

Is it not about time that the State Committee took this model chairman in hand, or

STAMFORD, April 24, 1880. are daily receiving letters from your patients, yet none can be more grateful than myself for the wonderful cure your medicines have effected on mother's (Mrs. Mary C. Bostwick) case. Just two years ago she given up by her physicians; they said "she could not possibly survive six weeks, her lungs were all tubercles," she was so prostrated that she could bear no movement except an occasional change of pillows; all who knew her expected her decease daily Providentially I met you, and was inspired with a faint hope by the thorough examina-tion you gave her, that she might recover

We discontinued all other remedies, using only your Arabian Medicines, and following your directions implicitly. In four weeks she was walking unaided about all the rooms, in two months she could walk around the grounds, her appetite returned, cough gradually left her, her labored breathing, which was so painful for all in the house to hear, was suppressed, and we were astonished hourly at her rapid improvement. Except an occasional cold (since her recovery) she s apparently as well as any one of her age, attending to all her household duties as oriskly as ever.

Gratitude compels me to tell you all this, at the risk of tiring you and occupying your valuable time. We gladly recommend your medicines to any one afflicted with consumpion, asthma or catarrh, and have witnesse

The Doctor at once removed the foreign odies with the knife, and then gave his great Blood-Specific, "Favorite Remedy," to preent their reformation. The entire treatment vas eminently successful, and Mr. Tietsell's ecovery was rapid and perfect. Had this and imilar cases used Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" in the early stages of the complaint the formation of stone would have been pre-vented, and thus avoided so dangerous an

While Dr. Kennedy's "Favorito Remedy" is a specific in all Kidney and Bladder diseases, it is equally valuable in cases of Bilious Disorders, Constipation of the Bowels, and all the class of il's apparently inseparable from the constitutions of women. Try it. Your druggist has it, and its cost is only one dollar a bettle (1)

General Garfield to Young Men. AN ADDRESS AT MENTOR WORDS OF WELCOME TO YOUNG VOTERS-

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8 .- The First Voters' General Garfield responded as follows:

MR. CRAIRMAN AND YOUNG GENTLEMEN any man-indeed, in the history of any people-when, as I am told, there are 400 young men here who have made this journey, not for any personal purpose, but to express that their first grapple with the great questions of their country. I know of nothing quite like this in our history. With all the pleasure it brings I am bound to say it brings, a little disenchantment to me in this. Always to this time I have been accustomed to consider plause.] If before your arrival anybody had raised the question, I soould have asserted. with a good deal of indignation, if anybody had denied it, that I myself was a young

But they tell me you are to cast your first National vote at a Presidential election. If that is so, young man as I am, I voted before any of you were born. [Laughter and applause.] If you are young, and voters, borrowing the language of Rip Van Winkle when he awoke from that long sleep. "Who in the world am I !" [Laughter and applause.] I must have passed the very flush of youth, at least. But young gentlemen, I have not so far left the coast of youth to travel inland but that I can very well remember the state of young manhood, from an experience breast of a young man. [Applause.] The he enjoyed on earth. hopes that lie before him, the great aspirations above him, all these things, with the untried pathway of life opening up its difficulties and dangers, inspire him to courage and force and work. It is a spectacle that the very gods would look down upon in ancient Roman days with more than ordinary interest. [Applause.] Now, let me say a single word or two in answer to this great kindness and compliment of your coming to my house, about some of the thoughts that I know get into the hearts of young men and inspire them. and some delusions that are likely to get into their minds. Let me speak of one delusion that I think, from the remarks of your our school what is not in any English dicwas a delusion among us that outside of us, away from us, was glory, was greatness.

Now, as to our country, let us not get any such delusion into our heads. I know all about abroad. I know what it is to enlarge our minds by it. But I want you to feel in ballot-box to order the supreme will of the Nation, that that sovereign shall be unintimidated by mortal man when he utters that final omnific word that commands the continent-that is the great purpose that all true Americans should keep in their minds. [Great applause.]

When I see such a band of earnest young men as meet me here to-day I feel certain that if they could deploy themselves as a ballot-hox guard to defend the purity of the American ballot-box [applause]; to stand around it as around the cradle of our heirguardians, such defenders, will keep the

Young gentlemen your visit to me gives while it disenchants me, as I said a little out to me, which I take with all cordiality and earnestness; and for your tendered support to me, which is not for my sake, but for of which my heart is capable. [Applause.] The house is small, the farm is small, the township is small, the county is a small one, hospitality and welcome-all that is in my hands to give-is yours while you stay. [Applause and cheers.] I bid you welcome to all there is of us, gentlemen.

In the performance in Paris of Le Pied pe Mouton, a candlestick bearing two lighted candles is brought upon the stage. One of the characters in the play blows out the candles, but as he moves away one of them becomes relighted. The actor again blows this and, becoming enraged, the man takes up the candlestick and blows furiously without being able to extinguish the lights permanently. This effect, which creates considerable astonishment, is produced by means of an electric spark from an induction coil, which inflames the vapor from a mixture of ether and spirits

She herself told me last summer that she was engaged to be married to Rear Admiral Glyn the naval officer who took the Prince of Wales out to India and whose standing at court is of the highest. As his wife her presentation to the queen, but there are ife would have been a delightful one. Certain circumstances would have barred her many ladies of fashion and standing who do not enjoy this honor and yet who go freely into brilliant and aristocratic society and hold their own there. This would have been Neilson's position.

She would have had a gentleman of birth nd distinction, and one who adored her for a husband, and her house would have been rendervous for the brightest, gayest and nost entertaining in all classes of London's nultiplex life. When she told me last year of her intention to marry and leave her stage, I ventured to say that I thought she was unwise to do so. He says that America has given more than the rest of the Irish tenantry-a distress created for the most part by the exactions of the landlords -and yet , instead of appealing to these rich landed proprietors to have pity on the victims of their avarice, and holding them up to the scorn of Chistendom if they refuse assistance, the Lord Mayor of Dublin uses the Atlantic Cable as a beggerman's dog to catch a few more pennies for the paupers whom these merciless and mercenary miscreants have created. "I don't know," he adds, "a single Irish girl in America who has not given $1, at least, to the relief of Irish distress, and thousands of them have supported their parents in Ireland since the present distress began. other malady, and relief is always anxiously sought after. If the Liver is regulated in its action health is almost invaribly secured. Indigestion or want of action in the Liver causes Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Diziness, Seur Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, palpitation of the heart, depression of spirits or the blues, and a hundred other symptoms. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is the best remedy that has ever been discovered for these aliments. It acts mildly, effectually, and being a simple vegetable compound, can do no injury in any quantities that it may be taken. It is harmiess in every way; it has been used for forty years, and hundreds from all parts of the country will vouch for its virtues, viz.:— LIVER of Georgia; Bishop Pierce of Georgia; John Gill Shortor of Alabsma; Gen. John B. Gordon, R. L. Mott, of Columbus, Ga., are among the hundreds to whom we can refer. Extract of a letter from Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, dated March 8, 1872: "I occasionally use when my condition requires it, Dr. Simmons' Liver Regulator, with good effect. It is mild, and suits me better than more active medicine."

REGULATOR

It is not the quantity eaten that gives strength. life, blood, and health. It is the thorough disgestion of the food taken let it be much or little. Therefore, do not stimulate up the stomach to crave food, but rather assist digestion after by taking.
